

Michael Daily became a Christian his freshman year at Oklahoma State University through an evangelistic Navigator bible study on his dorm floor. His future wife, Cheryl, became a Christian a few months later through the ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ. Mike has been teaching the bible in various venues since 1978. These include college dorms, the oil fields of Wyoming, Conoco's R&D headquarters, a USAF Para Rescue school, adult Sunday school, and children and youth classes from nursery through high school. He and Cheryl also led a parenting ministry at their church for 6 years and have been involved in the AWANA ministry for 16 years. Mike's current ministry focus is working with mid-school and high school students in a multi-church AWANA ministry with youth from across the Albuquerque metro area. Mike learned to study and teach the bible primarily from Rev. John S. Mahon while he was in graduate school at OSU. Mike was formerly a member of the board of directors of GCI, serving for 7 years.

Mike has B.S. and M.S. degrees in Electrical Engineering from Oklahoma State University. He has 27 years of experience in engineering most recently in quality engineering. He received an R&D100 award from Research & Development Magazine in 2002 and holds one patent. Mike is also a sales training instructor teaching engineers and scientists how to improve the value and experiences they deliver to their customers.

Mike and his wife Cheryl have been married for 29 years and have three children, one in high school, one in college, and one grown.
